REFRESHING NINETIES

The new Modo Legacy Collection is a combination of historical references and modern craftsmanship

The new Legacy collection just released by Modo is a journey into the vintage styles of the 90s. Unisex pantos shapes, iconic oval cat-eyes, or the classic square shaped models are renewed with the most innovative production methods to achieve ultimate timeless aesthetics. Building on the brand's signature lightness and their renowned attention to detail, the temple of each frame has a visible metal wire core, featuring decorative ribbed metallic plating. All the frames are offered in a wide range of colours that allow for personal expression and style statements.

INDIVIDUAL ACCENTS

Markus T comes up with news for shapes and colour ranges in its iconic collection Mio

Always driven by the founder's Markus Temming challenge of making things more simple, more beautiful and better, the eponymous brand has just added new styles to their most successful collections: Dot Mono, Titan Aura and Mio. The Mio frame in particular, harmoniously combines high-quality titanium and the anti-allergenic lightweight synthetic material TMi. Following the mission of making a pair of glasses that should blend harmoniously into the wearer's face, the new Mio model is lightweight, filigree and yet at the same time very sturdy.

UNIQUE APPEAL

Craftsmanship meets artistic vision in the new collection made by Leinz x Guillaume Larquemain

Leinz and French fashion designer Guillaume Larquemain bring together their expertise and creativity to create a small edition of stylish and sustainable eyewear – the result of a combination of craftsmanship and artistic vision. Each piece is a work of art applying Guillaume Larquemain's unique apple skin pattern as a texture to the sophisticated Leinz designs. The frames feature bold silhouettes, sophisticated details and eco-friendly materials.
